

Learn from the Past, acknowledge the Present and prepare for the Future

In 2017, the EIN team strived to deepen the networks role as a place to analyse worldwide issues, promoting the debate on the most crucial topics of our time. These included:

- > A continuous reflection on the “Future of Europe”;
- > The appraisal of nationalist and populist movements across Europe and its threats to democracy;
- > Tracking the roots and consequences of “Brexit”;
- > The Mediterranean’s social, economic and security stability and its geopolitical importance to the EU;
- > The immigration crisis;
- > EU security and defence;
- > The future of the Transatlantic Relations in a post-Brexit and Trump election era.

WORKING GROUPS

EIN’s core operations are prepared by its six Working Groups.

They contribute to the organisation of seminars, production of policy briefings, and preparation of the EIN Summer University.

Working Groups are in contact with the EPP Group coordinators, to ensure cohesion between the work of the EIN and the needs of the EPP Group MEPs.

Each Working Group is led by a Chairperson.

COOPERATION WITH THINK TANKS, POLITICAL FOUNDATIONS AND RESEARCH INSTITUTES

The European Ideas Network comprises political foundations, think tanks and research institutes – together with individual academic experts, policy researchers and opinion-formers – who wish to contribute to the policy discussions of the EPP Group in the European Parliament and of the European centre-right across national boundaries. Some of these are formally affiliated to the EPP Group or parties of the centre-right and support their objectives, others are independent and non-partisan who simply wish to engage in the activities organised by the EIN. They include:

*Austrian Institute for European Security Policy, Azad Centre for Political Studies, Bertelsmann Foundation, BRUEGEL, CDA Research Institute, Centre for European Studies (CES), Centre for European Policy Studies (CEPS), Centre for Fundamental Rights, CEVRO, Civitas/KRDU Foundation, Constantinos Karamanlis Institute for Democracy, Copenhagen Institute, Centrum Rozwoju Edukacji Obywatelskiej (CREO), E-Stat, Eurolib, European-American Business Council, European Enterprise Institute, European Policy Centre (EPC), European Policy Forum, Free Europe Centre, Foedus Foundation, Foundation for a Civic Hungary, Fondation pour l’Innovation Politique, Fondation Robert Schuman, Fondazione Fare Futuro, Fondazione Liberal, Fondazione Magna Carta, Fondazione Res Publica, Fondazione Ugo Spirito e Renzo De Felice, Friedrich-August-von-Hayek-Stiftung, Hanns Seidel Stiftung|CREI (France), Hudson Institute, Institut Montaigne, Institute for Research on the Market Economy (IBNGR), Institute of Democratic Politics, Instituto Amaro da Costa, Instituto Francisco Sá Carneiro, Institutul de Studii Populare (ISP), International Republican Institute, Inštitut dr. ### Coordination of the Network

The membership of the EIN Working Groups attendance at its Summer University and other meetings are at personal invitation. The European Ideas Network is organised, administered and funded by the EPP Group in the European Parliament. The Chairman and the Board of the European Ideas Network are appointed by the Presidency of the EPP Group, which also assigns staff support to the EIN’s Network Centre. The EIN offers the possibility of tracking its events on the official website, Twitter account and the newest Facebook page, launched in September.

IDEAS IN ACTION
ON EUROPE’S CENTRE-RIGHT

IDEAS IN ACTION ON EUROPE'S CENTRE-RIGHT

What is the EIN?

The European Ideas Network (EIN) is an open pan-European think tank sponsored by the EPP Group in the European Parliament. It is a network of policy-makers and opinion-shapers, aiming to promote the discussion about key challenges and issues at a worldwide level, which are of interest of EU legislators and their policy making function.

EIN offers a unique opportunity to address current and future EU policy challenges as it is the only think tank that joins EU legislators and civil society experts from all spectrums in its events, thus promoting the broadest forum in which to find the solutions that will better shape the Europe of tomorrow.

Launched in the summer of 2002, the network rapidly emerged as an important meeting-point and intellectual crossroad for the centre-right European politics, enabling politicians to make informed decisions regarding the most current and relevant issues on a global scale.

The EIN is formed by a large network of politicians, businessmen, academics, and policy advisers, members of think tanks and representatives of civil society, who share a common outlook on an European level. Non-party experts and critics interested in public policy issues are also welcome to reflect and debate upon different subjects contributing positively to different solutions for all. The forum offers unique ways to develop ground-breaking ideas by promoting a broad and reality based search for solutions which may help the EPP Group in accomplishing its aim: to continuously build a strong and united Europe.

Every year, the EIN organises a series of seminars and breakfast meetings in the European Parliament. Furthermore, the EIN organises events outside Brussels in cooperation with local think tanks on request of the National Delegations, in which we highlight the EIN Summer University. In addition, the EIN organises or co-organises events outside Europe, extending the EPP Group's network of centre-right contacts, on an international level.

The Summer University is the EIN's main annual event in which, during two days, key speakers take the stage to debate and reach for solutions on the most pressing issues faced by the European Union and the world. Gathering MEPs, Members of National Governments, key representatives of European Institutions, academics and representatives of civil society; this event constitutes a privileged forum to debate and reach important conclusions in a truly global perspective.

In its 16th edition, the success of the event and the global character of the discussions has been reinforced, with hundreds of participants from all over the world debating and presenting proposals for future policy-making.

Since 2008, the EIN proudly organises its Trans-Atlantic-Group (TAG) annual meeting, aiming to provide an opportunity for EPP Group MEPs to participate in an exchange with members of the US Congress and members of the main US political party representatives, providing a unique experience for them to liaise with their American counterparts.

These meetings represent a great opportunity to strengthen the transatlantic strategic cooperation and thoroughly work on issues that implicate both European and American legislators, in an era of structural and continuous change.

The EIN Merit Award Francisco Lucas Pires, created in 2015 to serve as a recognition of a personality committed to promoting the European values, was primarily attributed to Mr Jaime Mayor Oreja. In 2016, Dr Hans-Gert Pöttering, was the one contemplated. This year, the award was attributed to Mr Joseph Daul.

THE NETWORK'S AIMS

The EIN seeks to:

- > promote new ideas and exchange best practice methods on how to address the social, economic and foreign policy challenges facing Europe nowadays;
- > broaden the vision and experience of key policy-makers and opinion-shapers, so that issues are seen in a wider, more global context;
- > involve centre-right think tanks and political foundations more closely in the evolution of policy and offer them a framework to cooperate more effectively at the European level;
- > reach out to people and groups otherwise not involved in party politics, especially by encouraging the younger generation to participate in political argument and debate.

NETWORK'S 2017 ACTIVITIES

During 2017, the European Ideas Network has carefully organised an active programme of events focused on providing a forum to discuss on the most crucial and contemporaneous policy challenges the European Union is facing. ## NETWORK'S 2018 ACTIVITIES

In a defining moment for the European Union's project, the EPP Group has a great responsibility on finding solutions for the complex upcoming challenges. Therefore, in 2018, the EIN will continue reinforcing its role as a place to openly discuss and develop innovative ideas about the policy challenges facing Europe in the years ahead and to evolve practical solutions to address them.

During 2018, the EIN seminars and round table discussions will focus on deepening into the different angles and approaches of the European way of life.
